

The world-class dss+ creative team will make video messaging and microlearning your workforce will never forget!

Brand Media Messages and Microlearning

Video messaging generates awareness and understanding of your initiatives and culture brand for your specific audience. Microlearning videos provide bursts of learning to improve retention and close performance gaps. They are well suited for the just-in-time performance-based learning requirements of today's workforce. The power of microlearning is magnified when infused with your culture transformation brand.

These videos support learning and development across your enterprise. We focus on reaching your workforce on an emotional level and matching message, audience and medium to maximize impact. Videos are supported by a pdf one sheet containing the specific learning objects or takeaways from the videos.
